The Links of a Chain

The links of a chain are very like our lives. As each chain is made up of many links, so our lives consist of many diverse parts. Childhood, adolescence, and maturity are the basic links, but as one looks beneath the surface, it is obvious that the links are made up of other smaller links. And, since most of our time and activity are involved with school, school is an important link. Yet, school itself is complex — there are many links in this part of the chain. Study and play, competition and observation, laughter and tears, are just a few of the vital links. If one link were to be lost, the whole chain would be hurt. So, here we remember the year that has become another link in our lives and the special things that made the year unique.

Study...

Contemplation...

Participation...

Inquiry...

Everything that happened this year is something to be remembered, for every event, no matter how small, contributed something to our lives. As we crammed for that exam, talked with a friend in the quad, or cheered the team to victory, we were unknowingly adding to the chain that connects our childhood with the years that stretch ahead of us. Each day added to our experience and added to and strengthened our moral convictions. As we learned more about our world, we tried to fit ourselves to be worthy, productive citizens. Contact with many others broadened our horizons and made us more intensely aware of the magnitude of the world we inhabit. So, daily, in countless intangible ways, we forged the links of a chain.

Conversation...

Play...

Competition...

Emotion...

And
The Most Vital Link...

The Individual

If the link did not exist, there could be no chain; if there were no individual there could be no society. Each individual is indispensable to the whole. The main goal in this year's SOUTHERNER is to stress every individual in our society, for each of us has a very special place in the links of the chain.

Counselors moved into a new building this year. Each of the counselors now has his own room, small but private. Nine men and seven women, a total of sixteen, make up the counseling staff at South Mountain.

Last year, a new course was added to South Mountain's curriculum, "careers." The course is being continued this year and is offered to all freshmen. Counselors are in charge of the careers program which offers insights into possible vocations.

Mr. Swanson is new to the department. Both Mr. Nixon and Mr. Hyslop serve as school community workers. Counselors not pictured here are Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Mays and Mrs. Wentworth.

Journalism, speech, drama, grammar, and literature all come under the heading of English. Mr. Downs is the head of the English department, which has the most diversified program and greatest number of teachers of all the departments.

At least three years of English are required for graduation. College-bound students must take four years of English. Tailored to the needs of the students, courses are presented for the slow and the fast students and, of course, the average students. Team-teaching, under the leadership of Mr. McGrath and Mrs. Lathrop, combines two or more classes together as one. Freshmen and juniors were offered "team-taught" English classes this year.

Paints, brushes, and paper are evidently the order of the day for this art student.

This budding artist explains the style, technique, and colors used in one of her paintings

For those wishing to learn about art, for those wishing to improve their techniques, and for those wishing to refresh their memories, South Mountain has three teachers in the fields of ceramics, art history, and painting — Miss Hattabaugh, Mr. Lewis, and Mr. Boothby. Mr. Lewis is the head of the art department. Miss Williams is the photography teacher and is also part of the art department. All photography students learn picture-taking techniques, care of equipment, and the entire process of photography from her. Yearbook and school newspaper photographers have all been in Miss Williams' class at one time or another.

Mr. Perrill, who is the head of the department, teaches drafting. Mr. McIntyre, a biology teacher, is also head of our science department. Not only biology, but physics, chemistry, earth and space science, and courses in general science are offered.

Dissecting a fetal pig, smelling up the chemistry lab, and building an atom smasher are unforgettable events that bring many a smile to South Mountain students. Finding a paramecium or seeing the Big Dipper gives a sense of achievement to others.

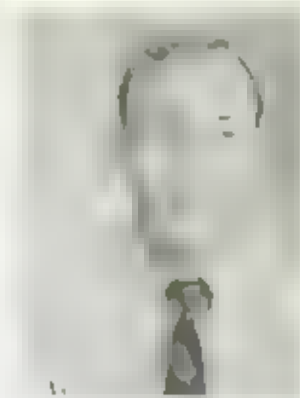

The teachers here are as varied as the courses. Mr. Canham, who teaches chemistry, is a qualified ham operator, and Mr. McIntyre was a photographer before teaching and still does photography for a hobby. Mr. Sanders, who is a new addition to the science department, teaches both physics and mathematics. Rebel students will find an able and qualified science staff.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Dressed in authentic Japanese costume, Mr. Stevens shows his world history class that East can meet West

Capitalism, democracy, and American history are our heritages. To become the responsible citizens of tomorrow, we must know and understand our past and the systems we operate under now. Qualified teachers are the rule. In order to cope with world problems and attitudes, an extensive program in social studies is presented to all South Mountain students. All juniors must take a year of American history and all seniors must take a semester each of economics and American government. The social studies department head is Mr. Shepard.

In the realm of mathematics are elusive numbers, intricate geometric figures, and plain old miscalculations. At least one unit of mathematics is required for graduation. For the $2+2=5$ people, there is a course in general math. For the more daring, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry may be studied. For the truly mathematical-minded, advanced courses in algebra and geometry are available. Well aware of the trouble many students have with math, a math help room is always open with at least one teacher ready to help. Students may also come after school for help. Teachers are available for such counseling and help until 4:00 P.M.

Colleges require at least two years of a foreign language. International policies and events demand attention, as do their people and languages. Travel abroad means another language if you are to be understood. French, Latin, and Spanish are the foreign languages offered at South Mountain. Mrs. Gilbert teaches French, Mrs. Rasbury teaches Latin, and Mrs. Johanson teaches Spanish. At least two years are offered in each of these languages. A third year Spanish class was offered this year and was taught by the head of the department, Mr. Palmer. Third year Spanish classes have been offered off and on, depending on the demand.

DECA classes, general business, and merchandising are offered also. Federal programs, the clerical and secretarial blocks have classes that are about two hours long. These two "block" classes teach a wide range of topics, from how to dress to how to type.

General business is a one semester course. The other semester is a class in careers. DECA classes give the students actual on-the-job training in various stores and businesses in the Phoenix area.

The sound of music, no reference meant to the musical by the same name, is a wondrous and delightful sound. Whether it is singing or the playing of an instrument, music never ceases to bring enjoyment to both listener and performer. The mad rock and roll, the rousing Rebel fight song, the nostalgic alma mater tune, and the awe-inspiring national anthem will bring back treasured memories of school life and friends.

Mr. Schear, Mr. Shaffer, and Mr. Satina make up the music department. This would lead a person to believe that our music program is small and undeveloped. On the contrary, music is a popular course taken by many students. Our school band is one of the most school-spirited groups to be found. Come to the games and listen, if there is any doubt about that statement.

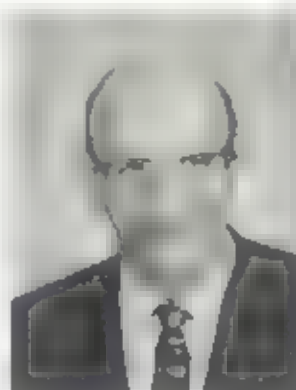

South Mountain High School's band in full dress, is on its way to practice for a forthcoming game.

Hurry hurry, hurry. Our cafeteria staff gives service with a smile

The cafeteria personnel at South Mountain are well-trained and have met all the standards set by both school and state. All cafeteria employees must take the tuberculin skin test and a chest x-ray before obtaining a food-handlers permit, which is required by state law. Clean white uniforms are donned by all workers and protective hairnets for those dealing directly with food. Periodical inspections have shown that our efficient cafeteria staff meets all the health and sanitation requirements set. CAMPUS MONITORS

Ever alert, these two campus monitors survey a quiet and uncluttered campus

Known to Rebel students as the "campus cops," these people are a familiar sight seen in the quad, the parking lot, and elsewhere on campus. Sporting a walkie-talkie and a quiet air of authority, these men check off-campus passes, loitering students, and any other suspicious student activities.

South Mountain students are as friendly a group as can be found and have often been complimented on their behavior. The campus monitors, as they prefer to be called, only help to maintain peace and order. There are only three campus monitors this year, Bill Hayden, Chuck Ciruli, and Gordon Everitt.

Medical Services. The fear-stricken student nervously waiting for his tetanus shot doesn't always appreciate the Health Center and its services. Squinting freshmen are well acquainted with the eye examinations given at the beginning of the year to all freshmen. Those splitting headaches, upset stomachs, and little emergencies are expertly handled by Nurses Echeveste and Patterson. Dr. Ensign, the school psychologist, and his assistant, Dr. Anderson, are both new to the medical staff. South Mountain cares for its students.

Audio-Visual Aids. Movie projectors, tape recorders, record players, opaque projectors, slide projects . . . the list is endless and growing. Perhaps one of the most active and useful services is provided by the audio-visual aids department. Signs and stencils are another specialty of the department.

Students are a very important part of the audio-visual aids department. They are the operators, the designers, and the working force of this department. Boys take the audio-visual aids course and receive one credit toward graduation.

New Teachers. The old hickory stick and evil looks went out with the coming of a new and pleasure-seeking generation. This generation is made up of imagination and exploration. Both of these techniques are practiced by our teachers today. Part of this pleasure-seeking generation of teachers can be found at South Mountain High School this year. They are new to the school and add a lot of new blood and color to stimulate and create a better school for the future.

First row: Peggy Phillips, Meran Vail, Bette Baker, Judy Harkleroad, Esther Minton, Garnet Chute, Ann Banes, Aima Hattabaugh, and Helen Gaston. Second row: Richard Brown, Homer Martin, Lester Goekler, Donald Brian, Albert Sattina, John Boothby, and Josephine Rogers.

Fear, sorrow, curiosity — these are emotions felt by Rebel students when the words "Opportunity Hall" are mentioned. South Mountain operates under the demerit system and students may be expelled temporarily for disciplinary reasons. Being out of school for any long length of time, however, puts students at a disadvantage. They are left behind in their studies and often find it is difficult to catch up. This is where room 120, better known as Opportunity Hall, comes into the picture. Students who have been temporarily expelled from classes may go into Opportunity Hall. This year Opportunity Hall is under the supervision of Mr. Reed and Mr. Hamilton.

"Go to the bookstore and buy . . . !" Not only pencils, paper, books, and erasers may be bought, but stamps, class rings, and bus tickets. Handling club accounts and signing blue requisition sheets are also a familiar part of the scene. To carry out the many operations of the bookstore, Mrs. Shumway and Mrs. Burke have student assistants helping them. Students receive credit towards graduation for such work.

"Wonder what the registration office called me in for?" That seems to be the mutual thought of this student and parent.

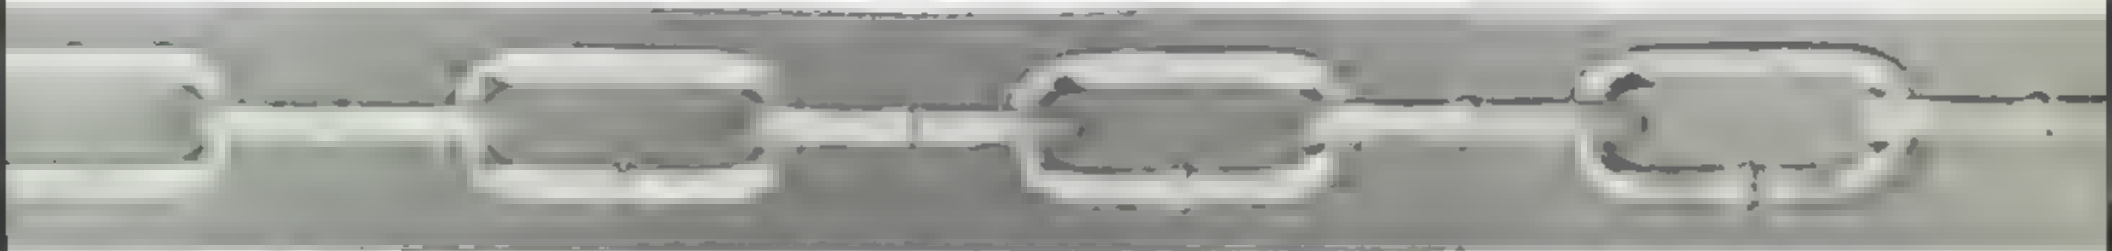

Running up and down the stairs at odd hours with call cards, attendance sheets, and faculty reports constitute only part of the daily work done by student office workers. Part of the school scene, student dispensers, library aides, and office workers make up a miniature youth corps. Whether for experience, money, or class credit, this youth corps performs a necessary and vital job.

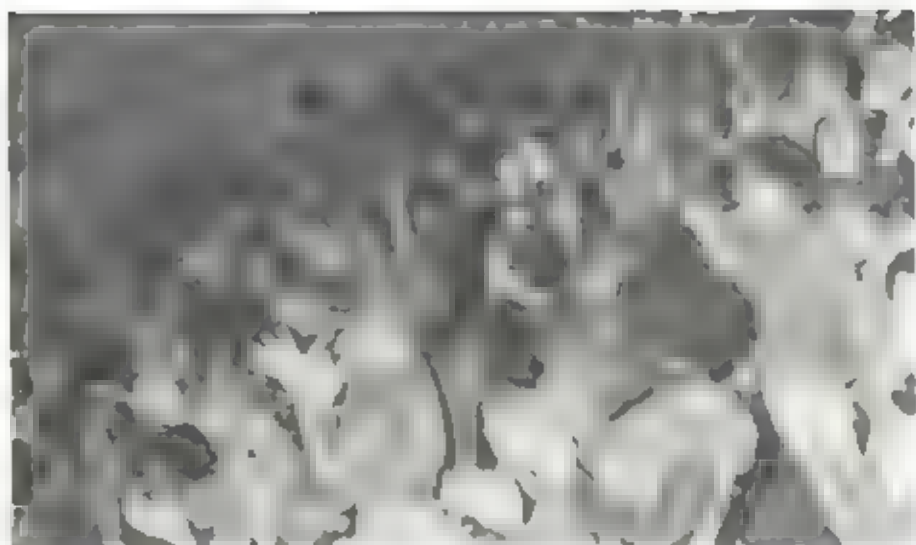

Campus Life

The Freshmen and Pom Pon girls show their enthusiasm for the cheer "Two Bits."

Freshman Year Begins Early

The Freshman year began early with the annual Freshman Orientation Assembly. Mr. Darsey, Mr. Goodson, Mr. Rambo, and Mrs. Smith, administrative heads, were on hand to assist the new students by answering the many questions that incoming Freshmen seem to have. The Student Body Officers attended the Assembly also.

With Special Orientation

The Pom Pon girls and the cheerleaders performed for the Frosh during their assembly. The Pom Pon demonstrated different dance routines to show the Freshmen just what Pom is like. The Cheers taught the Frosh our school cheers.

The Cheerleaders wait their turn to initiate the incoming Freshmen with Rebel cheers and the Fight Song.

The Varsity Pom Pon line for Football demonstrates its ability and gracefulness after long hard hours of practice during the summer.

Several outstanding club presidents were chosen to speak at the assembly. Among these seniors were Dwight Warren, Student Body President; Mike Pitchford, Boys' League President; and Gloria Grantham, Girls' League President. The speakers told the purposes of their clubs and some of the activities that they sponsor during the school year.

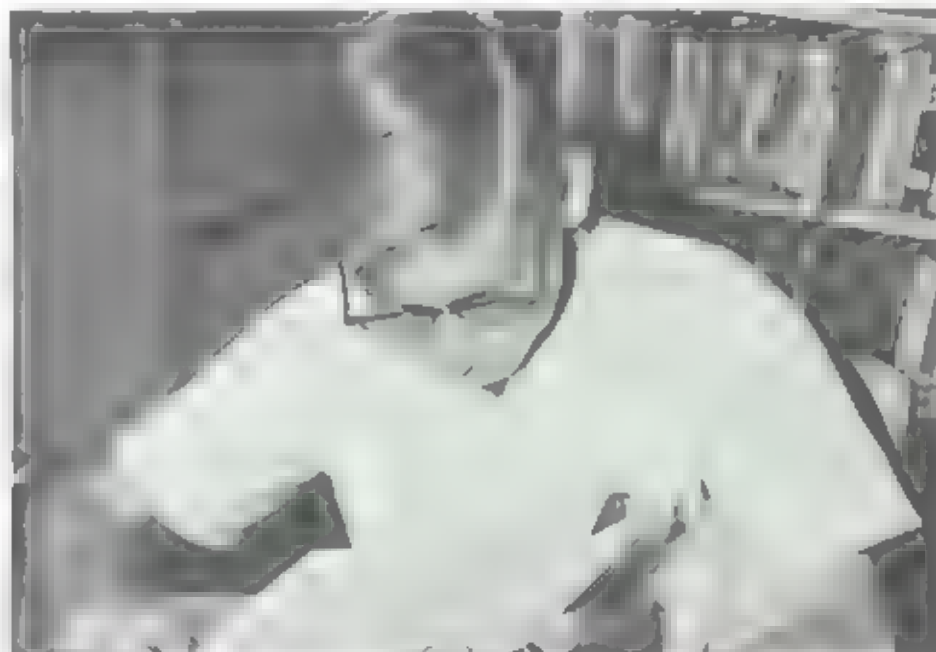

David Fyke assists the Freshmen in choosing the right books for their newly scheduled classes. The Freshmen are amazed at the many books they must buy to begin their studies.

Getting acquainted with the new school year is the student body's first homework assignment. Buying expensive books, getting to know the other students around the campus, learning to study efficiently, and getting used to cafeteria food are some of the trials the new student body must undertake during the first few weeks of school.

Jim Heigle strains trying to concentrate on his studies, but finds it very difficult.

The beginning days of school are the times when we start to form the first link of this year's chain of campus life. We begin by being an active part of our student body — to make every part of it a working part. The chain is as strong as its weakest link.

Only the yearbook staff knows the hard work and time that is needed to put the yearbook together and sell it successfully. There are times, too, when it isn't all hard work and the staff takes time out from their busy work to make posters for the campus to promote yearbook sales. We have to admit some are pretty corny.

The New School Year

Cathy Constable, Mike Wilson, and Bill Miles get acquainted with filling out tardy slips for being slow

Pep Assemblies Generate School Spirit

During the first pep assembly, the football players line up as Coach Clupper calls their names. This is one of the ways they receive recognition.

The players spent hard hours of practice time prior to the beginning of school and now the season faces them directly.

The student body shows their enthusiasm for their school as they stand and sing the school Fight Song during an assembly.

The season began and the work was cut out for the student body. They had a season of thrills, excitement, glory and disappointment as the South Mountain Rebels unofficially won the 3AA title but did not receive the crown. For the Cheer and Pom, the season began immediately after school was over last year. Under Heads, Jeniece Bryant and Frances Baratta, the girls devised new ways to build up the school spirit through skits, cheers, and dances.

The head coach, Coach Clupper, gives the student body an idea of how South Mountain will fare in the 3AA competition this year.

Football, a major link in the chain of high school activities, is a sport in which everyone may participate. The students do the supporting. From the stands they contribute to the excitement of the game. Their cheering and yelling give the team drive during the time of stress. Support, a key to a stronger chain of activity.

Stomp Camelback!

Benny Anderson, George Vasquez, Paul Edwards, and Dwight Warren are suckers for holding the line for Coach Clupper and Mac Jones during the assembly.

"STOMP" was the command of the day as the South Mountain Rebels prepared to meet the Camelback Spartans. The cheerleaders passed out red "STOMP" tags to the students the morning of the game, and by assembly time spirit was high. At the assembly the Rebel team was introduced. Each team member wore a tag saying, "I'M A STOMPER!" Benny Anderson led the student body in singing a well known song to the Rebel football team: "We are the Rebels, the mighty, mighty Rebels. Everywhere we go people want to know who we are, so we tell them — We are the Rebels . . .!" The student body picked it up fast, and the song soon became the favorite of the student body. From then on, it would be sung every time the South Mountain team won a game. During a skit, Dwight Warren, Paul Edwards, George Vasquez, and Benny Anderson got a little practice at "holding the line."

With the excitement of the whole day mounting up, game time finally came. The whole Rebel team showed their skill at holding the line, but, even so, the Camelback Spartans edged by with a one point margin. The final score was 14-13. The Rebels were sad but the spirits weren't dampened. Most of the season was still ahead and the Rebels would come out on top.

Students worked on the floats in their spare time. They also worked during class time when the teachers were generous enough to let the students out

"The Sound of Music" Homecoming Theme

Homecoming week started with a meeting of the Inter Club Council. The meeting organized work committees and assigned the task of making floats to the different clubs on campus. Student Council and Inter Club Council decided that this year's theme for Homecoming would be, "The Sound of Music." The clubs were asked to take one song from the motion picture of the same name and decorate their floats in accordance with that theme. As the days went by, the floats began to take on definite shapes.

The floats were finally looking like floats when the final day was approaching

Now, the students could see that four floats were being made with the themes of: "Climb Every Mountain," "The Lonely Goat Herd," "My Favorite Things," and "The Sound of Music." The students worked on the floats at night too, and as the final day arrived, only the finishing touches had to be put on the floats.

South Mountain Welcomes Its' Alumni At The South vs. North Football Game

At the first of the week Homecoming Royalty was voted on and everyone made their choices. The week before, the several positions were filled with nominations from the different classes. The nominees were: Homecoming King and Queen, Senior; Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman Attendants. The results were kept a secret until the night of the game at half-time. The assembly, presented by the Student Council, was very exciting. Eight finalists were announced for King and Queen. They were: Lynda Brown, Jeniece Bryant, Cassie Carney, and Mary Jo Walker. Those finalists for King were Larry Chatterton, Paul Edwards, George Vasquez, and Dwight Warren. During the assembly the band played several selections from the motion picture "The Sound of Music" and the South Mountain twirlers, Debbie Erb and Janice Bass, presented an exciting routine with their lighted batons for the student body. Coach Clupper spoke about the game that night against the North High Mustangs. He also announced the captains for the game. The Pom Pon girls danced and the Cheerleaders did a few cheers. Then the assembly ended with the Fight Song. Both assemblies went very well. Friday night at the game the alumni were there to help South cheer for their team. The stands were packed and the spirit was high. The first half of the game went well. Then came half-time. The big mo-

The pageant had just begun. The Royalty, seated in new cars, rode around the field followed by the Homecoming floats. The second half of the game went just as well for our Rebel team and South Mountain beat the North High Mustangs, 26-14.

The evening was topped with dancing to the music of "The Bittersweets." They have signed a five year contract with Original Records. Two of the Phoenix group are presently seniors at South Mountain. They have recorded three records to date.

Everyone enjoyed the whole week — especially the excitement of the final day.

"We Garter Win!"

"We garter win!" was the theme for the football game against the Maryvale Panthers. The theme was created by the Cheerleaders. They spent long hours prior to the game day making hot pink garters trimmed in black lace for the football players and coaches — besides planning the assembly and the skit. They also made signs for the game and a large run-through sign for the football players as well as decorating the goal posts. The Pom Pon, too, worked together to create new dances for every home game. The whole day was spent making an enemy of the

They bought an old car body and spray-painted such words of hostility on the sides of the car as: "Beat Maryvale!", "Panth the Panthers!", and "Mash Maryvale!" That night at the game the students showed Maryvale their loyalty to the Rebel Team, when they joined the Band and marched around the field chanting, "Let's beat Maryvale! Let's beat Maryvale!" The Mash Maryvale March was very impressive and helped show the players that the student body was really behind them.

Student Council

Student council is one of the more important bodies on campus. Responsible for many things, the five executive officers work long, hard hours. This year's officers were President, Dwight Warren; Vice-President, Ron Masunaga; Secretary, Shirley Hisle; Treasurer, Mike Kemery; Social Chairman, Susan Fly. Mr. McKivergan sponsored Student Council.

Girls' State

Arizona Girls State is part of a nation-wide program sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. The girls spend a week on the campus of the University of Arizona, studying government practices and putting them into use in their own imaginary state. The girls completely organize and run this state, which consists of 240 girls representing every high school in Arizona. This year South Mountain sent four delegates: Barbara Grant, Olivia Aguilar, Maple Ong, and Barbara Lindmark. The alternates chosen were Jeniece Bryant and Gloria Grantham. The girls who attended agreed that the knowledge and insight that they gained was something that would benefit them through all their lives.

Boys' State

Boys State is a similar program, sponsored by the American Legion. The boys study the national structure in order to understand, preserve, and perpetuate democracy. This year's delegates certainly distinguished themselves. Sam Fierro was elected Attorney General, and Ron Masunaga was his assistant. Travis Williams was chosen Outstanding Mayor, and Dwight Warren was elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Alternates chosen were Mac Jones and Ruben Duran and Larry Heiselman.

Miss Southerner

Each year, the SOUTHERNER staff chooses the girl whom they feel has contributed most to the production of the yearbook, and she holds the title of "Miss Southerner." Due to the varied nature of yearbook tasks and positions, this choice is sometimes difficult to make, and this year proved no exception. Finally, after several tie votes, it was decided to break tradition and have two "Miss Southerners" to share the honor. The girls chosen were Beverly Hoyt, who was business manager, and Barbara Lindmark, who was this year's editor

Beverly Hoyt

Beverly Hoyt (above) was this year's business manager and did an outstanding job. In spite of her devotion to the SOUTHERNER, Beverly found time to be active in Girls League, Parnassus, Job's Daughters, and various church activities.

Barbara Lindmark (right) was the editor of this year's SOUTHERNER. Although most of her time was spent on yearbook activities, she was also active in Girls League, National Honor Society, various other clubs, and church activities.

Publications Workshop

Publications Workshop is held each summer on the campus of Northern Arizona University. Here students on the staffs of their school publications learn the latest techniques and methods. This year there were two sessions, one for newspaper staff members and one for yearbook staffers. All was not work, however. There were dances and special field trips to relax the eagerly working workshopers.

Anytown

Anytown is a human relations workshop held each year for Arizona high school students. At the session, students learn to understand and appreciate other creeds, backgrounds, and viewpoints. The emphasis is on understanding and an all-important feeling of brotherhood. This year's delegates were Ruben Duran, Frank Evans, and Mac Jones.

...And More Workshops

Leadership Workshops

Many workshops are held each year to help those who are going to be active in student government. Students who attend learn to be effective leaders, capable of initiative and decision. This summer Dwight Warren attended Camp Cheeley in Utah and Shirley Histe and Mike Kemery attended a leadership conference at A.S.U.

Members of Student Council discuss plans for the year. They gain necessary background and training at special workshops held during the summer.

Organizations

Cooperation and dependability are vital on an active campus such as ours. This year South Mountain has had many varieties of clubs and organizations. Each has had to do its part to bring about one of the most exciting school years yet! Linking them all together is the Interclub Council, which has worked hard to organize our various campus activities. They discuss mutual problems and plan for more participation. We give many thanks to this new organization and hope that it will become stronger as the years progress. This year the highlight of Interclub was our annual Homecoming

Projects, Scholarship, and Standards Committees. Projects Committee serves the school and community. Scholarship Committee was created for the purpose of recognizing outstanding scholastic achievement among girls of the student body. Standards Committee is the largest of the three committees. They sponsor such activities as the Girls' League Fashion Show and the Rodeo Queen Contest.

Rebels Win 8, Lose 2

SOUTH HAS VICTORIOUS SEASON

Teamwork resembles the links of a chain, for a unified team is of the greatest importance. The team must function as one large body to succeed at any sport. If unification is not there, the team is at a great loss. Despite the two forfeits that South encountered, which eliminated our chance to play in the state playoffs, we still had a good season. Benny Anderson and Charles DeGrate brought honor to South's football team by being elected to the All-State Football Team.

SOUTH VS. PUEBLO 26-7

Moody Jackson, Benny Anderson, and Dwight Warren highlighted the season opener, with South Mountain romping over Pueblo 26-7. Net rushing was 166 yards compared to Pueblo's 3. Rebels netted 166 yards passing, to Pueblo's 55.

SOUTH VS. CENTRAL 34-13

With Moody Jackson carrying most of the weight, the Rebels ran over Central High in one of the most explosive games of the season. Collecting 267 yards of valuable Bobcat real estate, the Rebels whopped Central with a score of 34-13.

SOUTH VS. WEST 14-7

With approximately two and one-half minutes to play, George Vasquez hit Larry Chatterton with an eight yard pass to crack a 7-7 tie. West held the rushing edge, but the Rebel's aerial attack made the difference. Leon Gailey added the finishing touches by kicking both extra points.

SOUTH VS. CAMELBACK 13-14

Previously undefeated South Mountain was handed its first upset in a disappointing 14-13 loss to Camelback. At half-time the Rebels led 6-0, but a long punt return by the Spartans put the score at 7-6. Only moments later the Spartans scored again, bringing the score to 14-6. South struck back savagely on a 58 yard pass-run play from Vasquez to Lumby. Lumby fell at the two, but Anderson ran it over and Gailey kicked, establishing the final 14-13 score.

SOUTH VS. PHOENIX UNION 13-20

After their disappointing loss to Camelback, South again hit a low point when they lost on Phoenix Union's home field. More a game of defense than offense, South was outdone as the Coyotes won with a 20-13 score.

SOUTH VS. NORTH 26-14

Recovering from the two previous losses, South began a winning streak that continued throughout the remainder of the season. The passing combination of George Vasquez and end Calvin Demery clicked as the Rebel team romped over North. South Mountain led at half-time with a score of 19-0. The Mustangs finally got on the score board late in the third quarter, but the Rebel team came out victorious.

SOUTH VS. CARL HAYDEN 43-7

Quarterback George Vasquez started the attack by throwing three touchdown passes, one a sixty yarder to Moody Jackson. Benny Anderson turned in the best run of the game with an 85 yard sprint, making another T.D. Net passing yardage was 144 yards for South compared to 20 yards for Carl Hayden.

SOUTH VS. MARYVALE 24-0

In the season's most exciting game, South Mountain massacred the state's top-rated team 24-0. Benny Anderson scored two T.D.'s and more yardage (160 yards) than the whole Maryvale team. Mike Lumby scored on a 5 yard pass from George Vasquez. South racked up one more score with a 1 yard plunge through the line by Charles DeGrate.

SOUTH VS. CATALINA 47-21

At half-time the Lions led 12-6 but George Vasquez hit Calvin Demery with an 18 yard pass to tie the game. With only 13 seconds left the Vasquez-Demery duo clicked again to win the game 18-12.

SOUTH VS. CATALINA 47-12

The Rebels crushed Catalina in one of South's best games. Moody Jackson scored 4 times with two long runs of 95 and 75 yards. Benny Anderson scored 3 T.D.'s with short runs of 1, 3, and 9 yards. Leon Gaily, having failed to kick a point in the Maryvale or Alhambra games, succeeded in hitting 5 of 7 kicks. Net rushing was 356 yards for the Rebs compared to the Trojan's 157

South's Varsity started out strong this year, but ended at a slightly slower pace. South started out by whipping up a 78-64 score over Chandler. Maryvale threw water on South's fire by pulling out a 62-56 win. In the final minutes of the game against West, they pulled out a 59-58 score over us. We started a small winning streak, beating Central and Sunnyslope, but Phoenix Union put a damper on our hopes by beating us 98-55. Carl Hayden was our last win of the season, when the Rebels won 82-55 over the Falcons.

Wrestlers End Season With An 8-3 Record

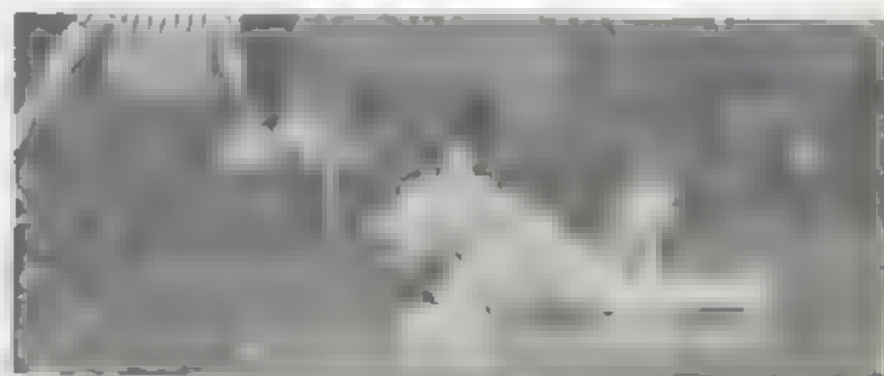

South's Varsity wrestlers fared very well this year. Two of South's wrestlers won their weight division in the district tournament. Juan De La Torre won 3rd place in the state tournament. Practice for the wrestlers started at seventh hour but many times ran into late in the evening. Coach McKivergan, who spent many patient hours instructing the team in the many complicated throws, was rewarded for his hard work. The Varsity finished with a season record of 8 wins and 3 losses.

Cross Country Has Good Season

When one thinks of cross country, he usually visualizes long hours of running. True, many hours were spent running, but Coach Ehlers put new life into an old sport. The boys learned sportsmanship and they improved as a team. In order to increase their speeds, they played such games as football and participated in a circuit training program. The entire season can be summed up in Coach Ehlers own words. "The team is young and should develop into a fine team next year."

Season Shows Fine Performers

Discus, shotput, broad jump, high jump, hurdles, sprinting, and distance running are all a part of the sport of track. The requirements of track are endurance, ability, practice, and desire. South's track team contained all this and more this year. At the time of the Yearbook deadline South's track team was ranked high in state competition.

Billy Joe Morrison finishes first in the high hurdles during an intra-squad meet.

The Varsity Baseball squad practiced every night after school from 3:15 to 6:00 p.m. to improve their skill. Under the direction of Coach McDaniels the team put forth their efforts during the baseball season. Along with the Varsity, the Junior Varsity and Freshman teams had rewarding seasons.

Girls' Varsity Tennis Team Has One of Best Seasons

Miss Crane

With four returning lettermen, the Girls' Varsity Tennis Team had one of its best seasons this year. Cheri Swann, Margret Hjalmarson, Diane Mason, and Linda Davis, the four returning girls, were joined by Sue Varney and Stella Munoz to make up this winning team. Frances Gill, because of a leg injury, did not play much this year.

In the Class A Junior Tournament, Margret placed first in the single matches and Cheri placed second. Together they placed third in singles. Margret and Sue placed third in doubles. South Mountain is proud of these hard working girls.

Miss Crane, their coach, said that the J.V. team did very well this year, as did the Varsity. She also said that the team was young and aggressive, which is desirable when playing such a sport as tennis.

The Cheerleaders are a high spirited group of girls. They're always planning some activity to get the spirit of the South Mountain students rolling.

Among a few of the activities the cheerleaders sponsored this year were: the "Mash Maryvale" March, the "Lion Safari," "the Three Little Pigs," and "Little Red Riding Hood," at the assemblies, plus the skits at the Pep Rallies.

Cindy Valliere, with her back to the camera, practices her kicking with (front to back) Frances Gill, Frances Baratta (head) Karen Spotts, Pearl Gonzales, and Leslie Cotton. This was one of the Pom Pon Girls many, many practice sessions. They also practiced at least three times a week during the summer months and every day during school. They had to work hard in order to keep their positions, if they were Varsity. If they hadn't, when tryouts came, as they did in September, they would have lost their places on the line, and a J.V. girl would have replaced them.

Senior Foreword

As Seniors we have just closed an important link in our lives. Throughout our years in high school we have closed many links to our chain of life. Our Freshman year we had many new experiences, with the next two years opening new vistas for learning and maturing. This year held many memories also, which make our high school chain of activities special and complete. We were the pace-setters, the mighty upperclassmen, the leaders. But for all the pleasures and joys there were tinges of sadness too; the last time we cheered for our Rebel teams, our last Silver Be Is, our Senior Prom, Senior Activities Day, and finally Graduation, the seal of our high school chain.

We are the link between yesterday and tomorrow, and are ready to assume our responsibilities. Some of us will go on to higher education, some to jobs or military service. Tomorrow is in our hands, and we have a grave responsibility to our world. Thus, the last four years have been an extremely vital link in our preparation for the future. We have come to the end of this part of our chain . . . Now we must build on to our chain and try to create a better tomorrow.

We as Juniors formed one of the most active and important links in the chain of people and events which helped to make South Mountain High great this year. Our Class, under the skillful guidance of Mr. Reed, Mrs. Fortson, Mrs. Lathrop, and Mr. Russell, has made many valuable contributions to our school. Even more important than what we have given the school are the things that the school has given us. These are the things like the chance to learn, the opportunity to meet new people and the opportunity to make new friends. Our school makes it possible for us to develop our talents and our leadership abilities through student government, and, also, to work with others through various clubs and organizations.

Remember all of the silly mistakes and blunders we made as Freshmen? Things like getting lost and not being able to open lockers were major problems. Now suddenly here we are, facing our Senior year, our last year at South High. Our Junior year has come and gone, leaving in its wake precious memories too numerous to be counted. The thrill of being upperclassmen, the sports, activities and honors are ours to treasure forever.

Sophomore Foreword

As we pass from the ranks of underclassmen, we look back and ask ourselves what we have accomplished. The Sophomore class has been active in almost all school sports and academic activities. Clubs and organizations on campus had many sophomore members.

One word that describes this year's Sophomore class is "far-sighted." Sophomores have shown unprecedented initiative this year by getting a head start on financing the Junior-Senior prom. This effort will certainly make their Junior year easier and will probably produce more favorable results than last minute fund raising.

Perhaps even more important than these obvious accomplishments, we have achieved a greater degree of maturity. Under the guidance of Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Stanley, Mrs. O'Brien, and Mr. Bowers, Sophomore class sponsors; many of us have made our plans for the future. Whether our choice is college or industrial school or going to work after graduation, we have made our decisions from our experiences gained from contacts with teachers and with our fellow students.

Sophomores have been a vital link in the chain of high school life. We were the transitory link from the inexperienced freshmen to the upperclassmen who hold the positions of leadership. Although many sophomores found this year to be trying and difficult, most of us managed to survive and a few even managed to distinguish ourselves.

Freshman Foreword

We freshmen are a very important link in the chain that makes up South Mountain High School. We have taken an active part in school activities and have shown as much school spirit and enthusiasm as upperclassmen.

Within our freshman class link itself, another chain is being formed. Future leaders are beginning to emerge and we are becoming aware of the more serious responsibilities of leading the student body several years from now.

Within this freshman link, different events have occurred, making it what it is. There was the freshman assembly where we were introduced to high school life. For the first few months we realized how different high school was, as we had the thrills of attending football games and joining clubs and organizations on campus. Also our class schedules were new to us and were a little confusing at first. We realized that we had greater freedom and many more decisions to make than we had ever had before. Then when class elections came around, we tried our best to get what we wanted, for we wanted to have only the best. As the year went on, we became more accustomed to high school life. So now we are high school pros, ready for another great year to continue our chain. Much of our thanks goes to our sponsors: Mr. McCutchen, Mr. Brown, Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Cartwright for helping us have a wonderful freshman year!
